COVER ILLUSTRATION: To commemorate the sesquicentennial of the Civil War, this special issue is dedicated entirely to that conflict. The articles and research notes in this issue examine a variety of aspects of the war and how it affected the men and women of Maine, whether they were politicians, soldiers, relief workers, civilians at the home front, or even war dissenters. Wars often begin in a patriotic euphoria but end with many lives ruined. The Civil War was no different, and Mainers experienced both the glory and devastation of the conflict. Chase, member of the Fifth Maine Battery, lost his right arm at the Battle of Gettysburg. After the war, he penned this pamphlet which told of the personal struggles of many Union veterans.
